

Centre for Work, Organisation and Wellbeing

Workshop on Equity, Diversity and Gender in Employment (WEDGE)

Theme: Exploring the complexities of diversity in contemporary society

We welcome papers that cover employment issues relating to, for example, indigenous people, women, people with a disability, aging, LGBT workers and intersectionality. Papers may focus on one or more of the intersections of equity, diversity and gender in the modern workplace. Papers which reflect on individual, organisational, industry and national policies are welcome. Papers - either in development, or fully developed - and dealing with work in Australia and overseas are invited, as are papers from PhD students. The aim of the day is to promote discussion among scholars and practitioners who are interested in workplace diversity solutions.

If you are interested in presenting at this symposium, please send a short abstract and title to the WEDGE conveners, Professor Emeritus Glenda Strachan - g.strachan@griffith.edu.au

Date: Wednesday April 1st, 2020
Time: 9:30am – 3:30pm
Location: Room 2.02, Building N54, Nathan Campus
Cost: FREE

and Chantal Gallant - wow@griffith.edu.au by Monday March 2nd, 2020